

Shawano Area Community Foundation Grover-Stuff Bonduel Scholarship

Background:

The Grover-Stuff Bonduel Scholarship Fund was established in 1997 by Dr. Patricia Stuff and her late husband, Dr. William Grover, Jr. After moving to Bonduel in 1957, they established the Bonduel Clinic where they practiced medicine together for over forty years and raised three children. Both were heavily involved in many local, regional, state and national organizations in many roles, including the Bonduel School District School Board, Shawano Community Hospice member, Shawano Area Community Foundation board member, Northeast Wisconsin Technical College lecturer, Northeast Wisconsin Emergency Medical Service program developer, Safe Haven Support Center board member, Wisconsin State Medical Society officer and American Medical Association committee chairperson.

Doctors Stuff and Grover were both strong believers in higher education and giving back to the community. From their involvement in the community and with the Bonduel School District, they were aware of many bright students who missed out on the opportunity of obtaining a higher education due to the ever-increasing costs of college. As such, the honoraria and reimbursements from their many boards and committees through the years were donated to local education. Upon nearing retirement, Dr. Stuff became involved with the formation of the Shawano Area Community Foundation.

It was through Dr. Stuff's involvement in this foundation that she established the Grover-Stuff Bonduel Scholarship Fund to provide scholarships to bright and motivated Bonduel High School seniors who might not pursue further education due to the financial burden. The amount of the scholarship is intended to pay a substantial portion of the tuition for the first year of college. Hopefully by the end of the first year, students will be motivated to complete their degree, and possibly pursue an advanced degree and ultimately contribute to their community via their education.
